

If you are interested in starting a PEP program in your area, here are some recommended steps for getting started:

1. Form a team of at least two people. The responsibilities are more than one person can handle alone. Discuss with your team any contacts they might have in organizations where you would like to offer PEP.
2. Download documents from the PEP page at tprf.org/en/programs/peace-education-program. You will find documents on the right column of the PEP Home Page. These documents include information that supports you and your team as you go through the process of establishing a PEP class in your area as well as material for introducing the program to officials in facilities.
3. Become informed about both PEP and TPRF in preparation for making a presentation to an organization administrator.
4. Contact the organization(s) you have chosen and set up an appointment to present PEP.
5. Present the program at your meeting. If there is interest, take the appropriate steps for arranging a start time and request a letter of approval from the appropriate organization staff member on the organization's letterhead.
6. Send the PEP manager, electronically or by postal mail, the letter of invitation and confidentiality forms that each team member has signed.
7. Once the forms and letters have been received at PEP, have a consultation and briefing with the PEP manager. Following that, a PEP kit will be sent to you.
