Overview

The Prem Rawat Foundation

Food for People

The Food for People (FFP) program takes an innovative approach to helping people emerge from poverty by providing nutritious meals, clean water, and educational opportunities to disadvantaged communities in India, Nepal, and Ghana. FFP has served more than 4.1 million nutritious meals. FFP has greatly improved health, school enrollment and achievement, and economic outlook.

Humanitarian Aid

TPRF has given over 160 grants totaling over $5 million to a variety of partner organizations in 40 countries to help victims of natural disasters and other challenges, providing food, water, medical care, and other aid.

Peace Education Program

The Peace Education Program is an innovative series of workshops that help people discover their own inner strength and personal peace. Excerpts of Prem Rawat's inspiring talks are at the heart of the workshops, giving participants the opportunity to focus on their own humanity and their inner resources such as choice, hope, and dignity.

Forums for Peace

TPRF has sponsored more than 45 live events and forums with Prem Rawat and other leaders to build awareness that personal peace is the strongest foundation for world peace, including at prominent institutions such as the United Nations and European Parliament.

Peace Education Program

Quotes from Participants

Over 43,900 people in 36 countries participated in Peace Education Program courses in 2020. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, over 300 courses were offered virtually, facilitated by people trained in virtual presentations. Over 8,000 prison inmates took the course on tablets.

“I gained much from this peace class: deepening realizations, understandings that allow me to see my life from a different angle, being touched in the heart, joy about so many truths that resonate inside.”

Participant, virtual group – Berlin, Germany

“This prison used to be very violent. Then someone decided to change the atmosphere of violence. We have been shown the opposite. We have been given a choice here. It is a pleasure coming to work now, because I no longer have to worry about the bloodshed.”

*Security Guard, Colonel, Everglades Correctional Institution (men)
– Miami, Florida*

“The Peace Education Program has really transformed my life. Before, life seemed meaningless. Now I have found peace within, and it feels like a mixture of ice cream or sugar poured onto sweet honey. Life has become so adorable.”

Highschool student – Ghana

“Even though I am deprived of liberty, I am glad to be alive. I understand that I am important. I am sure that, thanks to the Peace Education course, I will leave a better human being.”

Inmate, Everglades Correctional Institution (men) – Miami, Florida

“There can be a difficult situation on the outside, but if I am in a good place inside, I view things differently. I am noticing that I am more aware of when my head is agitated, and I can choose not to get into it.”

Peace Education Program

Two studies evaluating the impact of the Peace Education Program were completed in 2020:

Donald Sheppard from ACE Insights, New Zealand completed an Impact Assessment of the Peace Education Program, facilitated in Correctional Facilities across four continents and in seven countries. The study found that the program is “having a very positive effect on participants,” resulting in attitudinal improvements such as empowerment and a willingness to change, and behavioral improvements such as better anger management and reduced fighting.

The Johannesburg Department of Social Development studied the results of the Peace Education Program on houseless people in shelters, finding that it helped over 95% of participants with benefits including enhanced self-awareness, tolerance, love, inner peace, contentment, and self-reliance. The Department designated the Peace Education Program as one of the essential services needed to help these people cope with the COVID-19 crisis.

Humanitarian Aid

In 2020, TPRF made grants totaling over $300,000 to provide COVID-19 relief in the form of medical supplies, food, and shelter to people in Italy, Ecuador, Peru, Brazil, South Africa, and the United States.

After Cyclone Harold hit Fiji, TPRF gave a grant of $30,000 to the Fiji Red Cross to give support to about 2,000 affected families. And, in the wake of Hurricanes Iota and Eta, TPRF made a grant of $25,000 to World Food Kitchen to help victims in Honduras and another of $15,000 to Americares to help people in Nicaragua and Colombia.

The Foundation also continued to subsidize an effort to provide sustainable food for indigenous people in Ecuador by supporting a seed bank of native seeds and teaching villagers how to plant community gardens.

Food for People Program

TPRF's Food for People facilities shut down and reopened several times during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The India facility shut down meal service at the facility at the end of Q1 by government direction. They have continued to offer packages of dry food to people in need.

The Nepal facility has been delivering lunches to students at their schools whenever they have been open.

The Ghana facility was fully active in Q1 and continued to serve a smaller population for the rest of the year, with a total of over 59,000 meals served.

Altogether, the food kitchens were able to serve 166,875 meals to residents in their areas.
